NUMBER OF CHINESE LANDED

Nearly Sixteen Hundred Sought Admission Here During the Last Fiscal Year.

The landing of Chinese at the port of San Francisco during the fiscal year ending June 30 will probably cut an important figure in the trial of Dick Williams, now in progress in the United States District Court.

While it is generally admitted that more natives of the Flowery Kingdom have come into this country than are legally entitled to such privilege, the magnitude of the business has never been fully appreciated. While there are none who are willing to say that Collector Wise is even remotely responsible for this condition of affairs, there are many who believe that he has relied too much on the honesty of those under him.

During the twelve months ending June 30 no less than 2445 Celestials arrived at the port of San Francisco from foreign countries. Of this number 861 simply passed through the United States en route to other countries. Of the remainder, 1337 males and 105 females were admitted, leaving a fraction over 6 per cent, or, to be and now from washington comes the figures already named.

It is understood that the Government proposes to introduce this evidence if such a thing is possible. Not that they hope to implicate Williams in all the illegal business that has been done, but simply to show that during his term in office more Chinese landed at this port than ever before

As a kind of clincher to this argument the prosecution will attempt to prove that within sixty days of Williams going into office he opened a bank account which finally swelled well into the thousands. It is contended that when the ex-inspector received his appointment he was a financial wreck and found it necessary to borrow $50, which sum he immediately placed on his back in the shape of a suit of clothes.

Some weeks later Williams astonished and somewhat amazed his friends by appearing on duty bedecked with a diamond stud, the rays of which out-glittered anything before displayed in Federal circles. This gem of nature, polished and resplendent, was generally supposed to be a gift from that famous Chinese character known as "Little Pete"—a fact which deposit was $300, and this was followed regularly by other sums of money varying from the amount named to $800. The account, however, was in the name of "Mrs. R. S. Williams," and when it became necessary to draw any funds from the bank the wife acted as the go-between. Mrs. Williams made all deposits and signed all checks, that is until the recent suit for divorce was entered.

unit for divorce was entered.

In all something like $7800 was placed in the bank by Williams during his official existence. The prosecution claims to be able to prove that the ex-interpreter has also purchased property on the outside to the extent of probably $15,000. The principal contention of the Government is that this amount of property and money could this amount of property and money could not have been legitimately obtained during the short time Williams was in office. This position is strongly emphasized when it is known that the ex-inspector received only $150 per month.

There is one man, however, who does not take any stock in the claims set up by the proceention. This is no less a person not take any stock in the claims set up by the prosecution. This is no less a person than Collector. Wise. He declared a few days ago that all such talk was nonsense. "Williams told me himself," said the Collector, "that when he went into office he was worth $11,000. This had come to him through either his father or his grandnim through either his father of his grand-parents, I am not sure just which. I have no reason to doubt this statement, because I always found Williams a capable and honest man. If he has done wrong then he should be punished, but I am inclined to think he is being persecuted."

In the meantime the Government is of the strongest cards remains to be played. It is nothing less than the bank-book of Williams, showing that the deposits followed close on the arrival of each steamer from the Orient. This may mean

A Delegation of Voters Calls on 'Him at the City Hall and Protests.

Within ten minutes after a delegation of voters had visited the office of the Board of Health yesterday morning Health Officer Lovelace had experienced a change of heart regarding A. E. Buckman's grading camp, that has been the cause of so much controversy of late, and the hopes of the contractor to remain unmolested in his present location went a-glimmering.

On Friday evening, after the board had left the matter of deciding the fate of the camp entirely in his hands, Dr. Lovelace announced positively that he had visited the camp, had noted the efforts to make the place sanitary and fit for habitation, and was perfectly satisfied to allow Mr. Buckman to remain where he is. Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock he was still in the same frame of mind, but within an hour

They called his attention to the previous action of the board in condemning the camp and demanded that the measure be carried out. He was warned that they were voters and that the wrath of the neighborhood of the camp would fall on the board if Ruskman was not forced to the board if Buckman was not forced to

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22, 1896.

A. E. Buckman Esq., City.—Dear Sir: At a meeting of the Board of Health, heid on the 20th day of August, the matter of the "Buckman camp" was referred to me. I have reported to the Board of Health that I have again thoroughly examined and inspected the camp.

again thoroughly examined and inspected the camp.

I find that, while considerable work in the way of cleaning up has been done and that you have promised to do any other work in the way of sanitary reform that I may suggest, I am still of the opinion that it would be impossible to place the camp in a sanitary condition and keep it so, as long as the premises are occupied and used for the purposes they are used now. I am instructed by the Board of Health to reaffirm their former order that the place be vacated and that this order be compiled with within four days from the receipt of this notice. Respectfully yours,

ARTHUR S. LOVELACE, M.D., Health Officer.

Miss Kathryn Kidder and Company Get Here From New York.

The Talented Actress Talks of Her Conception of Sardou's Napoleonic Play.

Quite an array of dramatic talent came into town last evening with the arrival of Augustus Pitou's "Madame Sans Gene" company, direct from New York, from which place the organization started last Monday afternoon.

The star of the company is Miss Kathryn Kidder, who, in the face of all the compe-leaving a fraction over 6 per cent, or, to be exact, 102, wno were refused a landing.

During this same period Commissioner Heacock heard only thirty-two habeas corpus cases, as against many times that number in years past. Since July 1, however, the Commissioner's business has shown a marked appreciation, seven cases being heard in July alone.

Some weeks ago Collector Wise refused to give for publication the number of Chinese landed at this port for the period quoted above or for the year ceasing January 1, 1896. From unofficial sources the last was learned to be 1118, and now from Washington comes the figures already named.

The star of the company is Miss Kathryn Kidder, who, in the face of all the competition which necessarily makes for Sardou's plays, secured the English rights of "Madame Sans Gene" and brought it out handsomely under the direction of Augustus Pitou.

"I had always had ambitions beyond the stereotyped progress of an actress," said Miss Kidder, brightly. "I wanted to do something which would be different from the rest. Well, I saw 'Madame Sans Gene' in manuscript and was delighted. I saw—or imagined that I saw—a great success in it. It was a French historical play and I intended taking it to a country said Miss Kidder, brightly. "I wanted to do something which would be different from the rest. Well, I saw 'Madame Sans Gene' in manuscript and was delighted. I saw—or imagined that I saw—a great success in it. It was a French historical play and I intended taking it to a country where French is not spoken and where foreign history is not of paramount interest. But—well, you'll see."

"How about the translation,?"

"Oh, that was very hard, indeed," said Miss Kidder. "You would scarcely credit the difficulty of making a translation which should convey the 'atmosphere' of the French words. Translation after translation was tried and notably one by Clyde Fitch, which wouldn't do at all. At last Mr. Meltzer, a New York journalist, made the one which we are using."

ist, made the one which we are using."

Kathryn Kidder has a felicitous name, and she is a woman of versatility. Had she not chosen the stage she might have filled the rostrum, for Mme. Sans Gene herself is no more ready of speech than she. Then, with her height, she need never have troubled to climb to the top of the leader she could simply reach your hand of the leader she could simply reach your season. the ladder-she could simply reach up and take things off.

the Central Park

Meet.

A bad tumble occurred in the final.

Dow sprinted a lap too soon and got quite a lead, and, thinking he had won the race, rode wide on the south bank, crowding Terrill toward the rail. They collided and Dow was the sufferer, being thrown heavily to the track. This threw Terrill out of his stride and the sprint was left to Edwards and Davis, the latter winning in 2:42.

Fast Time and Close Finishes, Marred by Two Bad Falls, Were the Features.

The largest crowd that has assembled at cycle race meet in many a day congregated at the Central Park track vesterday afternoon, and were well repaid for the visit, for the racing was the fastest and most exciting seen here in many a day. The stands were packed with people, and, with their enthusiasm and the cheering influence of a six-piece band, which played one tune over and over again, the men rode with a vim and the finishes were close and exciting.

George E. Dixon acted as announcer of results, and his witty remarks kept the spectators in a constant uproar. As an announcer he was an unqualified success.

The drawing card of the programme was the match race at one mile, best two in three heats, between W. A. Terrill, Bay City Wheelmen, and Allen N. Jones, Olympic Club Wheelmen. Considerable betting had been indulged in between the members of the two clubs, and the grounds were filled with admirers of the two

The first heat in the match race was the opening event on the programme. Jones won the toss-up for position and took the pole. The second heat was even slower than the first, but more interesting. The men loafed for four laps, when Jones stole a march on his opponent and got a considerable lead before Terrill could get moving. When he did, though, he came with a big rush and the two fought it out down the stretch. They crossed the line abreast, and the judges declared it a dead heat, a decision which was applauded. The time was 2:31 1-5.

It was by all means the best sport of the kind cycling devotees here have seen in many a day. Terrill led to the tape, and, though Jones jumped again and again, he could not overtake him. Terrill won in 2:40 1-5 amid deafening applause, and was carried off the track on the shoulders of his delighted clubmates.

The one-third of a mile scratch was run in six heats and two semi-finals. There was a tumble in the last heat, and Languetin, Robinson and Welch went down, but escaped with a few bruises. The final was won by Percy Mott of Oakland, a Reliance Club man, in clever style in 51 2-5 seconds. Kenna and Squires, Acme Club, finished second and third respectively, close up.

The mile handicap, amateur, was decided in five preliminary heats and a final. Those who qualified in their heats were: C. D. Gooch, Reliance; W. J. Bell, Visalia; W. B. Plumb, Reliance; J. Hirsch, Sacramento, and P. A. Deacon, Reliance.
