

---

Sixty miners are reported to have been killed in a mine explosion in France through firedamp. Junst fancy how an old age pension will eliminate the uncertainty of a living for miners. Apparently the miners are eliminated years before the pension is due. No, it's not old age pensions that we want; it's the democratic management of industry by the workers and the full product of our toil.